This approach is becoming unusual but we strongly believe it is important for our clients who value having direct access to the person managing their investments."

- cash is an inert asset class
- issues over inflation
- interest rates remain at historically low levels 10 years!
- but is that about to change?
- however, we have to be mindful of vulnerable nature of client
- Wells v Wells- "not ordinary investors"
- differentiate between PI awardees and the elderly
- time horizon for investment for the elderly client is important

Building an investment strategy Inflation erodes asset values

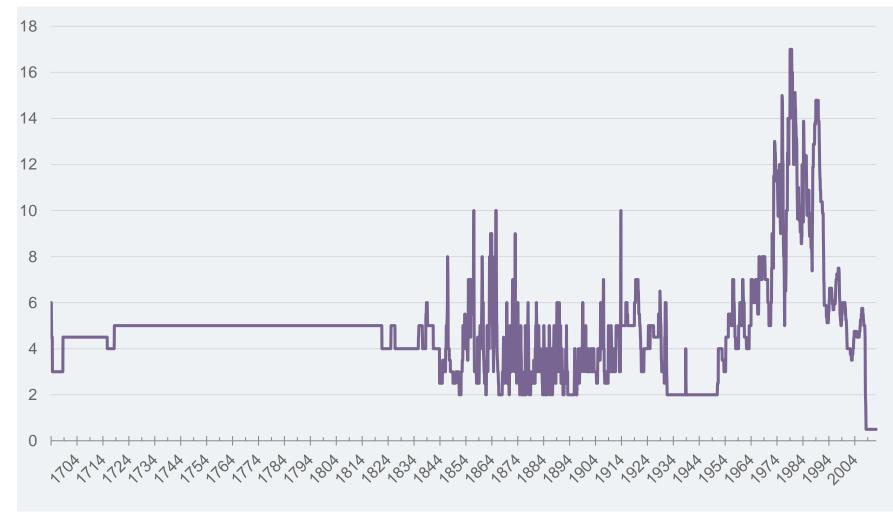

- inflation erodes the purchasing power of money
- even the relatively subdued inflation of the last 25 years has caused a dramatic reduction of purchasing power of idle cash

£100 in 1990 is worth just £46 in today's money

The Decision Tree Beyond Brexit's "We Don't Knows"

- Stopping at "we don't know" is a missed opportunity.
- Break conundrum down into a series of smaller questions.
- Decision tree not all outcomes are equally likely.
- Tree is not all encompassing reduced down to crucial points.

Rathbones view in charts Amid all the Brexit unknowns, Rathbones' decision tree yields some useful information – a 'never ending story' is most likely

September 2018

The Decision Tree Probability of Outcomes – 1 YEAR TIME HORIZON

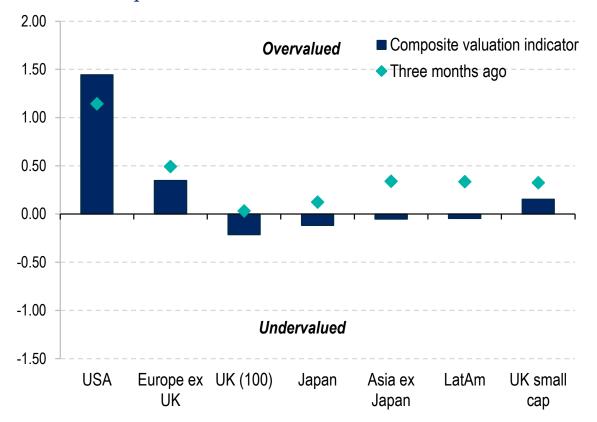

- EU doesn't want to be blamed for damaging Good Friday Agreement.
- If "no"; Hard Brexit; barriers to trade  $-2^{nd}$  referendum? (25%)
- Most likely 29 March de minimis deal and prolonged negotiations.
- "The Never Ending Story" outcome (40%)
- If deal is reached will it pass UK Parliament? (50%)
- YES "Sandstone" Brexit with support from ERG (Rees Mogg) (16%)
- YES Soft Brexit with Labour Support (4%)
- NO 2nd Referendum:
- Remain (no Brexit 15%) Leave Hard Brexit (see above)
- General Election Labour Victory loop back to top of tree!

Brexit for Investors How Financial Markets Might React

- "We don't know" does not equal "sell the UK stock market".
- FTSE 350 companies make 25% revenue in UK.
- Sterling is already priced in for a fairly hard Brexit (c/f 2016).
- Undervalued vs Euro as much as ever been in last 35 years (theoretical)
- Softer Brexit = stronger £ and stronger FTSE.
- FTSE "massively under owned" by foreign investors.
- Most likely outcome £ appreciates and UK based multinationals come back into favour.
- WE DON'T KNOW DOESN'T MEAN SELL UK SHARES

Rathbones view in charts UK shares are pricing in a hard Brexit: we see fundamental value and opportunity despite UK economic uncertainty

Other Important Issues - The End of Quantitative Easing?

- developed economies "normalise"
- inflation remains above the level desired by central banks
- governments stop buying gilts (and bonds)
- gilt yields are rising
- interest rates rise
- good for savers; bad for borrowers (corporate and private)
- what about investors? (tread carefully.....in the short term)
- SENSIBLE LONG TERM ASSET ALLOCATION WILL PREVAIL
